Inspiring the next generation to make informed choices about their future.

Future Pathways brings together education providers, employers, training organisations, apprenticeship providers, universities, colleges and support services to help young people explore the opportunities available to them after GCSEs.

Designed for students, parents/carers and educators, the event aims to provide clear, impartial information about the many pathways available – from further and higher education to apprenticeships, training programmes and careers.

Why take part?

By exhibiting at Future Pathways, you'll have the opportunity to:

- Engage directly with students exploring their future options
- Connect with parents and carers during an important transition
- Raise awareness of your organisation, programmes & opportunities you provide
- Support informed decision-making within the local community
- Demonstrate your commitment to education, skills and future careers
- Become part of a collaborative event focused on positive outcomes for young people

What's included?

Exhibition spaces are provided free of charge.

- Dedicated exhibition space within the event
- Organisation profile on the event website
- Inclusion in pre-event communications
- Access to registered attendees throughout the day
- Event branding and promotional assets to support participation
- Support from the event team before and during the event
